INTRODUCTION

It is well said that Korean language is 'orphan' language. Because the origin of Korean language, it is not known until now. French Missionary Dallet (1874) introduced 'the thousand character essay' to Western world. Park et al., (2019) translated the poem of the thousand character essay. Park et al., (2019) translated the poem through two methods. One is through Korean pronunciation of Chinese character, and the other is through the meaning of Chinese character. And Kim and Park (2022) found the close relation between Persian language and Korean language.

MATERIALS AND METHODS

The present researchers tried to find the similar or the same words among Persian words and Korean words. The order is randomly done. And the number ranges 238th – 247th word. With the dictionary (Bau, 2008) and the book (Kim, 1999), the researchers tried to find if "They are similar or they are same origin, Persian language and Korean language (238th-247th)". The Persian words investigated here are ten words.

RESULTS AND DISCUSSION

This is the result of translation of several Persian words into Korean words. The title of this work is 'Are they similar or are they same origin, Persian language and Korean language (238th-247th)?'

<The number. Persian word (the meaning in Persian language). Korean word (the meaning in Korean language)>.
238. Masraf (Storage of food). Mag Ssora! (Spend the money as you wish!)
239. Rag (Root of the plant). Yog-eo (Weave together).
240. Zenda negoh dashtan (Keep to revive). Zunda negot da zunda! (I will give you all of my things!).
241. Kaf e dest (Inner side of hand). Kof-degi nun deosso! (Skin gets burnt!).
242. Qat (Wrinkles). Qat (Outer surface).
243. Eshara (It is not real! Joke). Asora (Stop doing the thing!).
244. Fak e astai (jaw or chin). Tok un aretai (The jaw situates on the lower part).
245. Kata roda (Large intestine. Colon). Katar surob-da (The character of somebody is not good for me).
246. Kata roda (Large intestine. Colon). Katar zab-da (I make the complaint against somebody).

The present authors do not know well if there is a relation between the large intestine and being in anger in the viewpoint of medicinal science. However, both the Persian people and Korean people think that there is a very close relation between colon and being in anger.

247. Rah, Roh (route). Roh (route).
'Roh' means the road both in Persian language and in Korean language.

The theme of this work is as follows. When the present researchers listened the Iranian conversation in the television, the researchers were not able to understand the parole. While, the Persian and Korean words themselves are very similar.

Our Lord! You have helped two of us, Hyeonhi and Augustin, to translate these Persian words into Korean words! Thank you so much, amen!
