INTRODUCTION

French Missionary Dallet (1874) wrote in his book that 'the thousand character essay' was utilized for the children for their instruction of Chinese character in ancient China and in Korea. The book was written in 1,000 Chinese characters. Several researchers found that the thousand character essay was translated both on Korean pronunciation and on Korean grammar (Park et al., 2019). So the present authors tried to find other language such as Persian language can be translated on Korean pronunciation (Kim & Park, 2022).

MATERIALS AND METHODS

The present authors took randomly the five Persian words, and compared them with Korean words. For this purpose, the authors used a Persian dictionary (Bau, 2008) and a book about Iran language for the traveling (Kim, 1999). And the method is as follows. For each Persian word, the authors tried to estimate the similar or the same Korean word. And then, the authors tried to find similar or same meaning on the Korean word.

RESULTS AND DISCUSSION

This is the work of translation of Persian word in Korean word. The title of this work is 'Are they similar or are they same origin, Persian language and Korean language (233rd-237th)?'

<The number. Persian word (the meaning in Persian language). Korean word (the meaning in Korean language)>.

233. Soqa (Stem of plant). Sogga (To thin out).
234. Sher (Poem). Shi (Poem).
235. Sod (Cataract). Sod-da (To rise, Be powerful).
236. Sarang (Instrument for the music of the classic Indo-Persian). Sarang (The love).
237. Yak kam (A little). Yak kan (A little).

The theme of this work is as follows. The authors investigated five words. The meaning of Persian words and that of Korean words are similar. So, it is considered that they are similar or they are same origin, Persian language and Korean language.

Our Lord! You have helped two of us, Hyeonhi and Augustin, to translate these Persian words into Korean words! Thank you so much, amen!
